

Bullfrog Creek/Wolf Branch Watershed Management Plan – PDF Document Metadata

In 2003, Hillsborough County contracted with the Florida Center for Community Design and Research at the University of South Florida to arrange and convert the Watershed Management Plans into PDF documents that could be downloaded from the Hillsborough County Watershed Atlas (www.hillsborough.wateratlas.org). All available digital documents were obtained from Hillsborough County, not the original engineering firm that produced the Management Plan (unless otherwise noted).

Date of plan: October 2000

Date plan was formatted for the web: February 2004

Number of volumes: One

Provider of digital files: Hillsborough County Stormwater Management Section

Provider of hard copy documents: Hillsborough County Stormwater Management Section

Original author of plan: Dames & Moore

Original file type: Word and Excel

Final file type: PDF documents

Final PDF includes scanned pages: Yes

Process: The digital version of this watershed plan was constructed from multiple Word and Excel documents. The Word and Excel files that were provided by the County to the Florida Center were arranged in order as stated in the table of contents and cross-checked with the hard copy document. Pages from the watershed plan that were not provided in digital format were scanned.

Quality control procedures: The final digital volume was reviewed and checked against the hard copy document. Every fifteen pages were checked. No parts of the document were missing. The pagination between the PDF document and the hard copy document do not correspond exactly since some of the pages are formatted differently.

Disclaimer: The digital versions of the Hillsborough County Watershed Management plans were arranged and assembled as one complete PDF document for each volume. Since the final documents are a compilation of sources rather than a facsimile of the original hard copy document, there may exist slight variations between the print and digital version (i.e. additional pages, missing pages, or different pagination). Furthermore, there were instances in which the Florida Center had to scan text, tables, figures and exhibits. Every attempt was made by the Florida Center to minimize these differences. However, we cannot guarantee that these PDF documents are exact copies of the hard copy versions of the Management Plans in Hillsborough County's possession.
